ENTHUSIASTIC PATRIOT FROM IOWA IS VISITING HIS BROTHER IN OGDEN

L. C. Abbott of Marshalltown, Iowa, a brother of J. W. Abbott of the George A. Lowe company of Ogden, is in the city for a few days while en route to California for a pleasure trip. Mr. Abbott is head of the oldest hardware firm in central Iowa. He has been president of the National association of hardware dealers and has held many other positions of importance and trust in his state.

Mr. Abbott at present is chairman of the committee on food conservation of Marshalltown and is city chairman of the Committee of Fifteen, a patriotic organization of Marshalltown men who look after all patriotic activities such as Liberty Loan campaigns, Red Cross and Y. M. C. A. subscriptions. He is also chairman of the "Flying Squadron" a special organization which rounds up the "tight-wads" and "hard nuts" as Mr. Abbott calls them, and secures their co-operation. "And it seldom fails," he said.

Mr. Abbott was seen this morning by a representative of the Standard. He was full of the war and what the stay-at-homes ought to do to help Uncle Sam. Mr. Abbott has three sons in the war and another one with prospects.

According to the visitor now is the time when everyone has got to be patriotic and American, or get out. "If there is anything we hate in Marshalltown it is a tight-wad. We are all helping the government there. If we find a slacker he is visited and brought back into the fold, or told to get out. And believe me it is effective. Marshalltown with its 18,000 population is the liveliest, most patriotic town one could find anywhere."

"It has oversubscribed its Liberty loan, its Red Cross allotment, its Y. M. C. A. fund and all other patriotic funds arising since the war and is ready to dig down again or at any time when the government makes the call. It has an organization that can clean up the next Liberty loan in a few days. Committee of Fifteen."

Mr. Abbott explained the organization of Marshalltown and Marshall county which takes care of all patriotic activities. There is a Committee of Fifteen composed of men from county and city and sub-committees with chairmen in each voting precinct of the city and each county township. The entire organization has an enrollment of 125 men. The Committee of Fifteen meets every week and discusses all questions and problems of interest. The whole organization can be summoned to a meeting within three hours by telephone, he said, and every man is ready at any moment to drop his work and respond.

People Thoroughly Awake.

"The people there, you see, 'he added' are thoroughly awake to the fact that we are at war and they thoroughly realize that everything must be subordinated to the war. There is then perfect co-operation and unified action and whatever the committee does gets the solid backing of the people. With that support it is not hard to squelch any unpatriotic sentiment."

"The most important thing the American people have got to learn is how to treat spies and pro-Germans in this country. You had an example right in your own community recently and if it develops that the man is guilty internment at Fort Douglas with the prospect of a vacation during the remainder of the war is about the most severe punishment the culprit will get."

"You are at war and should not scruple at anything to make our country safe. A few more necktie parties like our forefathers staged during the colonial wars, the Mexican war and the Civil war will convince the traitors enjoying our hospitality that we mean business. There is only one course to follow and the sooner we realize that, the quicker will we make America safe. Inside, and on that safety we then can build our great efforts to whip Germany."

How to Handle "Tight-Wads."

Mr. Abbott told of a "tight-wad" of Marshalltown who had refused to subscribe to every war fund. A petition was circulated by himself and two other business men of the city to cut him off the Commercial club and was signed readily by 100 prominent men of the town. When he saw it he realized it meant absolute ruin, so he quickly confessed his mistakes, repented and came through with a heavy subscription for bonds, support for the Red Cross and the Y. M. C. A. funds and aid for anything else he was asked.

Another instance he told of was that of a young minister of a strong German community south of Marshalltown who had been taking pro-German stuff. He was visited by the Flying Squadron and told if he repeated his sentiment he had better leave the county as fast as a train could carry him out. A member was commissioned to attend his church every Sunday to report on his activity also.

Saving Food Necessary. He mentioned several other examples of what the Marshalltown folks are doing to help win the war, and added that as a result the county had been pretty well freed of slackers, pro-Germans and dead heads and that everyone now was tuned up to fighting spirit and doing all he could to aid.

"Conservation of food is one of the greatest factors in winning the war," Mr. Abbott said. "If we could only get the people to wake up to its importance we should have done a great service. Three ounces of wheat saved each week by every person in America would amount to the stupendous amount of 13,437,506 pounds per week. This would amount to 698,750,000 pounds, or 344,400 tons per year and would feed 5,000,000 soldiers for six and one-half months at the rate of one pound of flour per day. Can you imagine what a help this would be and by the saving of a mere three ounces per week? Why there is more than that thrown away in crusts and scraps of bread."

Mr. Abbott Will Pleased With Ogden. Mr. Abbott will remain in Ogden for a few days as the guest of J. W. Abbott and will then go on to the coast and will return to Marshalltown by the southern route. He was in Ogden eight years ago and this morning remarked about the change in the city, especially in paved streets, new business blocks and general improve-

MEN INTERESTED IN BUILDING UP GREAT HIGHWAY MEET AND NAME A STRONG COMMITTEE

That road building is more important in war times than in times of peace was the sentiment expressed at the good roads meeting held last evening in the Weber club to consider improving the roads in Davis, Weber and Box Elder counties. The meeting was presided over by Charles Barton, president of the Weber club and the Ogden Publicity bureau, and representatives of the county commissions and citizens of the three counties informally discussed plans for co-operating for this betterment.

Concerning the part of the Lincoln highway in Box Elder county, from the Rosebud ranch to Lucin, considered the worst and the most in need of repair on the whole northern Utah end of the highway, it was declared by Fred Herrington, owner of the ranch, that the road could be put in good shape for $500 and that he was ready to contribute $100 of this amount, if a means could be found to raise the rest.

Perhaps the most important feature of the meeting was the appointment of a committee of men from the three counties to confer with the state road commission at an early date "for the purpose of ascertaining whether means can be made available through automobile taxes for the season of 1917-18 or by the sale of bonds for the purpose of completing and maintaining the state highway north through Davis, Weber and Box Elder counties and west over the Overland trail through Nevada."

Committee Named. The members of this committee were named as follows: Weber county—Moroni Skeen, commissioner; T. S. Browning, mayor; A. P. Bigelow, Weber club, Ogden.

Box Elder county—Tremonton, Charles McClure, mayor; A. D. McGuire, Commercial club; Garland, L. W. Preston, mayor, and J. W. Lewis, Commercial club; Brigham, Brigham Wright, county commissioner; J. W. Peters, mayor; J. Francis Merrill, Commercial club; Park valley, Fred Herrington.

Davis county—Farmington, Arthur Hess, commissioner; J. D. Wood, mayor; Kaysville, John W. Thornley, mayor; W. P. Epperson, Commercial clubs; Bountiful, mayor and Commercial club member.

The committee will meet Saturday evening at the Weber club, to formulate plans of action for the conference with the state road commission.

President Barton welcomed the delegates to the convention in the opening address and stated the purpose of the meeting. "This," he said, "was to learn what there is to combat, to discuss ways and means of holding automobile traffic, to discuss needed repairs to plan for harmonious work of the three counties and to agree on what activities are advisable during the war."

These questions were discussed by the following speakers: A. P. Bigelow, O. J. Stillwell, Fred Herrington, Mayor T. Samuel Browning, Commissioner Moroni Skeen, W. P. Epperson and Hon. J. W. Thornley of Davis county; Brigham Wright, Albert Holmgren, Bishop A. R. Capner, LeRoy Young, E. M. Tyson and J. Francis Merrill of Box Elder county.

A large map, showing the highway through the three counties and as far as the Nevada line, had been made for the meeting by O. J. Stillwell and virtually every foot of the route was traced and discussed by those present. It was ascertained that with some financial aid and concerted action every foot of these roads could be put in good shape for every need this season.

The following were present at the meeting and banquet:

Ogden, C. H. Barton, C. E. Kaiser, A. P. Bigelow, W. H. Shearman, Joseph Scowcroft, Jr., P. M. Parry, H. L. Herrington; Ogden City council, Mayor T. S. Browning, M. L. Jones, Chris Flygare and Joseph M. Tracy, city engineer; Weber county commissioners, Moroni Skeen, Bishop D. H. Ensign; Davis county, W. P. Epperson, editor Kaysville Reflex; Mayor J. W. Thornley; Box Elder county, Brigham Wright, chairman county commissioners; Albert Holmgren, county commissioner; Bishop A. R. Capner, LeRoy Young, county attorney; E. M. Tyson, J. Francis Merrill, William E. Davis, John Pierce, Dr. W. T. McNeal, N. C. Simmons, J. J. Shumway and Mosiah Evans.

ments. The Weber club, he said, would grace a town of 75,000 population.

MME. OLGA PETROVA

FIRST BIG PICTURE

AT ORPHEUM SUNDAY

Manager Goss of the Orpheum theater announces his third big picture for Orpheum patrons next week, beginning Sunday night, in the first of the new Petrova picture from her own studios, featuring Mme. Petrova in "Daughter of Destiny." This production is coming direct from the big Rialto theater, New York City, where it ran for a full week to a little better than $1700 receipts in the one week. Manager Goss is paying big prices for the big feature pictures he is showing at the Orpheum and Petrova in "Daughter of Destiny" will prove a big hit with his patrons as it is one of the best pictures of the recent releases and incidentally the best thing Petrova has ever done.—Advertisement.

FOODSTUFFS TO GO TO WASTE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—Great quantities of foodstuffs will go to waste in northwestern states unless immediate steps are taken by the railroad administration to furnish cars so they can be transported to markets, according to a telegram read in the senate today from producers in Idaho and Washington.

Senator Borah of Idaho said he had received a large number of telegrams declaring it is impossible to transport thousands of carloads of apples and potatoes to markets. Senators Poindexter and Jones, of Washington, said that they also had received many similar telegrams from the Yakima valley. The senators declared they had taken the question up with Railroad Director McAdoo and with Food Administrator Hoover, both of whom had promised to see that immediate relief was furnished.

WHOLESALE BUTCHERS APPEAR BEFORE CITY BOARD

Members of the board of city commissioners held a session this morning that was characterized more for volume than for accomplishment.

The greater portion of the time was taken up in entertaining a delegation of wholesale butchers who have plants just outside the city limits who objected to the payment of the meat inspection fees. The commissioners declined to reduce the schedule or change other clauses of the ordinance but agreed to give the matter a test of three months.

The men stated that they were discriminated against in favor of Cudahy and the Ogden Packing & Provision company, who had their plants inspected by government employees. Mayor Browning suggested that the city would be glad to let the government address the inspection of the local wholesalers but in the absence of that arrangement it became necessary for the city to supervise.

Because of lack of time, the proposed anti-booth ordinance was passed up until next Tuesday morning. Edmund Greenwell, of Greenwell Bros., and representing the drug stores and refreshment parlors of the city, appeared and suggested that the age limit of 18 years should be reduced to that of the younger people attend the parks and other amusement places and that this trade usually stopped for refreshments enroute home.

The commissioners advised him that the entire ordinance would be given thorough attention and disposed of next week.

W. W. Hickman made an address, suggesting the advisability of the city conducting a "corner lot" gardening campaign. He also discussed the conditions, because of war-time conditions, of raising a family pig.

H. W. Jaeger, general manager of the Guaranteed Smoke Consumer company, asked permission to make a test of his method at the city hall. He was referred to private business concerns. Mr. Jaeger claimed that his plan would reduce the coal consumption from 20 to 25 per cent.

E. W. Cannady, local real estate man, addressed a communication to the commission stating that he had a tract at 2953 Washington avenue ideally situated for a children's playground. He offered to sell the tract to the city for $4500—$1200 cash and the balance on time at 6 per cent interest. The communication was ordered filed.

J. H. Hughes, dog tax collector, filed his weekly report, showing that $16 had been collected during the week ending February 27. The report also showed that eight dogs had been killed, two at the request of the owners.

The commissioners adjourned at noon to meet at 10 o'clock Friday

INDIAN POET IN PAY OF GERMANY

Definite Connection Between Famous Writer and High German Officials Is Made.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 27.—Definite connection of Sir Rabindranath Tagore, celebrated Indian poet, and high officials of the German government with an alleged conspiracy to foment revolution against British rule in India, was established today, according to contents of the prosecution by introduction into evidence at the trial of thirty-one alleged conspirators of letters and cablegrams, seized by British censors.

The correspondence, according to counsel for the defendants, came into the hands of British censors on the way from Rye, N. Y., to Rotterdam, Copenhagen and other European points. At the time the letters and messages were sent, the attorneys contended, Rye was the temporary headquarters of the German embassy.

The documents had just been received from the state department by the prosecution and were introduced under agreement made yesterday when the government rested its case. Alfred Zimmermann, former German secretary of state for foreign affairs, Count von Luxburg, former German ambassador to Argentina, and Count von Bernstorff, former German ambassador to the United States, were the German officials implicated by the documents, according to the prosecution contention.

Many of the letters and cablegrams bore no signature and some of them carried no address.

Sir Rabindranath Tagore was implicated in the conspiracy, the prosecution maintained, by a document which was sent to Z. N. G. Officers at Amsterdam from Rye.

"Sir Rabindranath Tagore has come at our suggestion," the message read. "He said he saw Count Okuma, former Japanese premier, and Count Terauchi, present premier. Terauchi was favorable. Sir Rabindranath also consulted a number of minor Japanese officials."

The poet, winner of the Nobel prize for literature in 1913, was interested in the conspiracy in order to obtain a change in the India government by constitutional means, according to a statement made today by Tarakanth Das, one of the Hindu defendants.

A nine-hour work day and a living wage have been won by the working women of the state of Kansas.
